FACE ... TORTURES
Seven Years of Physical and Mental Suffering Ended by Cuticura.
ABOUT seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and looked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and looked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best doctors in the city and he could do me no good. No less than twelve of the best doctors have had a trial at my face and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering places; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June, I went to Moosehead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentleman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA REMEDIES and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is all well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a great deal of money to put me back where I was one year ago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain,
H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

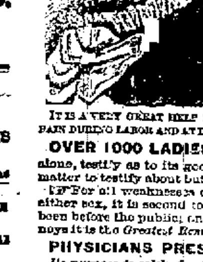

MOST WONDERFUL SKIN CURE.
Have just used your CUTICURA REMEDIES on one of my girls, and found it to be just what it is recommended to be. My daughter was all broken out on her head and body, and the hair commenced to come out. Now she is as smooth as ever she was, and she has only taken one box of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I doctored with quite a number of doctors, but to no avail. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of the statement. GEORGE EAST,
Macon, Mich.

CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier internally, are a positive cure for every form of Skin and Blood Disease, from Pimples to Scrofula. Sold everywhere. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; SOAP, 25 cents; RESOLVENT, $1 00. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON. Send for "How to Cure Skin Disease."

SKIN Blemishes, Pimples, Blackheads and Baby Humors, use CUTICURA SOAP.

DEATH OF BEECHER.

Scenes at the Death-bed of the Great Preacher.

FLAGS PLACED AT HALF MAST.

THE DEAD PHILANTHROPIST.

Those Present in the Death Chamber of Beecher.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Henry Ward Beecher began to sink slowly after midnight, and the watchers at his bedside soon saw that the end was near. Beecher passed quietly away while in sleep. He never recovered consciousness after paralysis stopped his mind. He died at 9:30 this morning in the presence of most of the members of his family. Those present were Col. H. B. Beecher, his wife, his daughters Hattie and Daisy, and son Henry Ward Beecher; Miss Edith Beecher, W. C. Beecher and wife, Rev. Samuel Scoville, Mrs. S. Scoville eldest daughter of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher; Miss Scoville, who has just come from the Pacific slope; Miss Bullard, Rev. S. B. Halliday and wife; Belle, the Scotch nurse, who has been in the family many years and was a special favorite of the deceased preacher; S. V. White, E. A. Seacomb, one of the trustees of Plymouth church, and Maj. J. K. Pond. Seacomb came out at 10:30 and said that no arrangements had been made for the funeral.

THE LAST HOURS.

Dr. Searle said he had noticed a change in the patient's condition at 5:[illegible] A. M. and summoned all of the house to the bedside, momentarily expecting his death, but he lingered much longer than had been thought possible. He passed away gradually and almost imperceptibly, drawing his last breath without apparent suffering or return to consciousness in any degree.

Mrs. Beecher, said Seacomb, bore up wonderfully and with marvelous courage.

No crape was hung on the door, the deceased having always objected to the use of this and to the gloom associated with it in the presence of death. Instead a magnificent wreath of flowers hung from the left side of the doorway at the top of the stoop, composed of white and red roses and lilies of the valley, and tied up with white satin.

At 10:30 o'clock it was given out that the funeral would take place in Greenwood, Thursday next.

It is not intended that any examination shall be made of Beecher's brain organs.

A CITY OF MOURNING.

The news of Beecher's death spread very quickly to all parts of the city, and Brooklyn may now be said to be a city of mourning. Even those who did not always concur with Beecher in his views had no hesitation in expressing their deep regret at his death. As a mark of respect to his memory the flags on all public buildings here are placed at half-mast, and Mayor Whitney had the city hall bell tolled. A committee appointed by the officers of Plymouth church last Sunday to take charge of the funeral made the necessary arrangements this morning, and in deference to the deceased's wish the wreath of flowers was hung on the door bell instead of the customary crape drapery.

STATUE OF BEECHER.

Some time ago H. W. Sage, a member of Plymouth church, appropriated in his will a sum of money to place a statue of Beecher in Prospect park after his decease. Quincy Wood, the well-known sculptor, who is to do the work, will call at the house in the course of the day for the purpose of making a plaster cast of his features.

FROM THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The following was among the telegrams received:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher—Accept my heartfelt sympathy in this, your great bereavement, and with the hope that comfort may be vouchsafed from that heavenly source you know so well.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

ANSWERING TELEGRAMS OF CONDOLENCE.

NEW YORK, March 8.—In the sitting room at the back of the house where the great preacher spent many hours of his life, Major Pond this evening was busy engaged in answering the many telegrams that were received by Mrs. Beecher. A large number of people called at the house during the evening and left their cards, with kind words of condolence. A crowd of people still hovered around the house and gazed in silence at the windows of the room where lay the body of Beecher. The pall bearers have not yet been selected and will not be made public until the funeral. Members of the family were gathered in the front parlor to-night and received their friends until 8 o'clock, when the house was closed for the night. Mrs. Beecher braced up wonderfully under her heavy affliction. She is calm and composed.

THE DEATH BED

The Physician's Statement of Beecher's Death.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Dr. Searle makes the following verbal statement in regard to the distinguished divine's last hours: Beecher began to fail decidedly at 3 o'clock this morning; respiration rapid at 4 o'clock, when the family were summoned; death came slowly and stealthily on and respiration gradually became faster and faster, until they reached sixty a minute, one each second, the pulse variable and often reaching 140. He still remained in the same condition, except breathing, and his eyes closed entirely; the unconscious motion of the right arm became less frequent, and finally stopped almost entirely. About 9 o'clock in the morning we could detect the first symptoms of death; his pulse ran up still higher, flickered, and fluctuated until 9:26; two minutes before his death his pulse ceased almost entirely, and at the wrist was so faint that it could hardly be detected, and then stopped altogether. There was a rattling in his throat painful to those around him, but unfelt by him, owing to the failure of the nerve center of respiratory organs, together with failure of the heart's action. His death, which came at 9:30, was very easy, as painless, if not as pleasant, as death from suffocation or by drowning is said to be.

BEECHER'S VACANT PULPIT.

A Parishioner Says it will be Hard to Fill.

NEW YORK, March 8.—It is a serious question with a majority of the Plymouth church people whether the society can be held together for any great length of time. "The edifice is a large and expensive one, and only a pastor of first class reputation will be likely to fill it." Said one of the parishioners this morning: "He will be a bold man who steps into Henry Ward Beecher's shoes. No matter what his gifts of oratory may be, he cannot expect to escape the contrasts which will constantly be made with those of his illustrious predecessor." Outside of religious circles there are not a few who are disposed to contemplate the departure of the great preacher as in some respects a national misfortune. Cleveland and his administration, especially in connection with civil service reform, had no more powerful friend in this part of the country, a fact which the president himself was not slow to acknowledge. In Brooklyn at the free trade club, of which he was president, it is said that as he considered the tariff question the great issue in the future, he was preparing to take an active part in its discussion next autumn. When he used to speak, even on that subject, no man could attract larger audiences. Those who read and really differed with him were deeply interested in what he had to say.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

TREASURY DECISION RELATING TO OPIUM.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The treasury department has received an appeal from the action of the collector of customs at San Francisco in assessing duty at the rate of $10 per pound on certain imported opium which appellants claim to be crude opium containing less than nine per cent. of morphia. Samples of the importation were submitted to the chemical experts of the department of agriculture, who after careful analysis reported that the article consists of moist opium gum and contains 6.28 per cent. of morphia, the per cent of moisture being 21.10. Chemical experts in the office of the U. S. appraiser at New York also corroborated this analysis. The New York appraiser in his report says: "The sample does not indicate that this has been subjected to special preparation;" and he gives his opinion that it is crude Indian opium, which meets fully the description of illegal opium as given in the United States dispensatory.

Acting Secretary Fairchild, in a letter to the collector at San Francisco on the subject, says that the representations of appellants appear to be correct; that the opium is crude; that it contains less than 9 per cent. of morphia, and also that it is not entitled to entry. The collector is instructed to be governed by articles 516 and 517 of the customs regulations of 1884, and either require exportation of the opium within six months after March 7, or else its destruction.

A TELEGRAPH BETWEEN GUATEMALA AND MEXICO.

Henry C. Hall, United States minister to Central America informs the secretary of state that on February 5, direct telegraphic communication was formally inaugurated and opened between Guatemala and Mexico by the extension of the Mexican land lines to Guatemala. This arrangement places Mexico in closer communication with Guatemala and other Central American states. The lines are owned and managed by the governments and inter-communicate at uniform rates.

Matthew A. Manning, of West Virginia, has been appointed chief of a division in the pension office.

Walter Jordan, of Fort Buford, Dak., has been appointed appraiser of the right of way of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company through Fort Berthold and Blackfeet Indian reservations.

The president to-day appointed H. A. [illegible] to be United States consul at [illegible], vice W. A. Pierce, suspended, and Gebhard Reed, of New York, to be United States consul at Barbadoes, vice Robert M. Holley, suspended. These appointments were made during the session of congress, but failed of confirmation.

CONVENTION OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The national convention of superintendents of schools will assemble for a three days' session in the hall of the National museum in this city on the 15th of the present month. Superintendents of schools and prominent educators from all parts of the country are expected to be present.

Three sessions will be held, on the 15th, 16th and 17th. The members of this body are superintendents of schools in all parts of the country, and papers of importance will be presented by Fred. M. Campbell, of Oakland, California; Dr. A. J. Rickoff; Leroy D. Brown, Columbus, Ohio; J. W. Holcomb, Indianapolis; Warren Easton, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and Representative McKinley of Ohio. The officers are as follows: Charles S. Young, Carson City, Nevada, president; N. C. Dougherty, Peoria, Illinois, vice-president; Chas. C. Davidson, Alliance, Ohio, secretary; W. H. Powell, of this city, chairman of local committee.

APPROPRIATION BILLS.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Statement of the footing of the appropriation bills passed at the last session of congress has been completed by the clerks of the senate and house committees on appropriations to day. It is as follows: Agricultural, $1,028,730; army, $23,774,718; diplomatic and consular service, $1,429,912; District of Columbia, $4,265,890; Indian, $5,526,897; legislative, $20,701,221; military academy, $419,936; navy, $25,753,165; pensions, $76,202,500; postoffice, $55,694,650; sundry civil service, $22,382,430; Mexican pensions deficiency, $6,900,000; public printing deficiency, $107,[illegible]; miscellaneous appropriations (estimated), $3,100,000; total of actual appropriations, $247,387,144. The river and harbor bill, which was not signed; appropriates $9,913,800, and the deficiency, which did not pass through and was agreed upon in conference, carried an appropriation of $12,700,025.

THE TELEPHONE CASE.

In the old interference case between J. W. McDonough, Elisha Gray, T. A. Edison and Alexander Graham Bell, McDonough has filed with the commissioner of patents a petition asking for an order reopening interference, and for leave to furnish further proof in regard to the operativeness of his telephone. Upon receiving this petition an order was made by the commissioner directing that all parties to proceedings should be served with notice of the pendency of this petition and that final hearing and disposition thereof would be made on the 18th inst. In this case McDonough was awarded priority of invention by the examiner-in-chief as to the telephone receiver, but this decision was subsequently reversed by the commissioner.

TREASURY REGULATION.

The comptroller of the currency to-day received a certified copy of the act of congress providing for the establishment of reserve cities and at once prepared regulations for its execution. Under the regulations applications may be made to the comptroller for his approval in each case in which it is desired to take advantage of the new law. The principal requirement is that these applications shall come from the directors of banks interested and not from presidents and cashiers. Notice has already been given that application will be made for the designation of Chicago as a central reserve city, and Kansas City as a reserve city under the provisions of the new law.

APPLICATION FOR DAMAGES DENIED.

An application was received recently at the treasury department for an allowance of damage on an importation of wool. Notwithstanding the application for such allowance was not made within ten days from date of landing, the importers represented that they were prevented from filing the application within the required time by reason of delay in transferring merchandise from import vessel to bonded lighter and to the delay in unloading from lighter because of bad weather and strike of 'longshoremen, the application has been denied by Acting Secretary Fairchild, because he did not think the reasons sufficient to authorize him to disregard the plain provisions of the law governing allowances for damage.

PRELIMINARY FUNERAL OF MRS. BECK.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Preliminary funeral service over the remains of the late Mrs. Beck was held this afternoon at the residence of Senator Beck. The Rev. Drs. Power, Butler and Bullock conducted brief services. Honorary pallbearers were Secretaries Bayard and Lamar, Speaker Carlisle, Senators Blackburn and Vance, Admiral S. P. Lee, Hon. W. W. Corcoran and Hon. Edmund Rice of Minnesota. The remains were taken to the depot and left in a special car at 5:30 for Lexington, Ky., where the final services and interment will take place. Senator Beck, Maj. and Mrs. Goodloe, and a few very intimate friends were the only ones who accompanied the body from this city.

SECRETARY MANNING GOES TO EUROPE.

Secretary Manning has arranged to make a trip to Europe for the benefit of his health. He will leave Washington Thursday for New York and take the steamer there on Tuesday next. He will be accompanied by his wife and family and Treasurer Jordan. The latter is now in New York, but will return to Washington prior to his departure for Europe.

ABOUT AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Tribune's Washington special says: People whose counsel is frequently sought for at the White house state that the president, though anxious to avoid it if possible, still contemplates an extra session of congress in the early autumn. The financial situation, it is expected, will be then such as to need prompt action on the part of congress. With regard to the surplus, some action will not only be desirable, but absolutely necessary. The failure of the river and harbor and deficiency bills becomes more serious as time passes. There is also well grounded fear entertained at the White house that the interstate commerce act once put in operation will cause no end of trouble and litigation, and that its provisions will need to be radically amended, and promptly, by congress.

PROBABLY AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

A package has been received at the dead letter office which was mailed in Boston and was addressed to the Prince of Wales, London, England, and was held for postage. When it was opened it was found to contain a brass figure of Christ, evidently detached from a small crucifix, and a small glass tube containing white liquid, and having two wires running through the tube and projected from both ends. The paper enclosed contained an incoherent sentence. The dead letter officials were apprehensive that the glass tube might be an infernal machine, as it was carefully packed in cotton, and they were trying to find some one who will test the quality of the liquid.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The remains of the late Lieut. Col. R. N. Scott were buried in Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon with military honors.

The secretary of the interior has directed that all decisions of his office in pension cases, made during the present calendar year, be printed, and that at the end of the year they be bound in a volume. Orders for this volume, received by the public printer before it goes to press, will be filled at a price 10 per cent. above cost of printing and binding.

Several designs have been received at the navy department in answer to a circular sent out last August to naval constructors of the United States and Europe through department and consular officers offering a good price for two sea going, double-bottomed, armored vessels, about 6000 tons displacement, of sixteen knots speed, with torpedo outfits and effective armament.

Up to last Saturday night there has been filed in the pension office 7710 applications for pensions under the Mexican pension law passed in the last session of congress.

Arrangements are being made at the treasury department to supply the demand for small notes, silver certificates and United States notes, which is very large and increasing daily.

FOR RAILROAD MEN AND TRAVELERS.

CHICAGO, March 8.—One hundred or more general managers and railroad officials, representing the lines embraced in the Central Traffic association, met here to-day for the purpose of outlining a general policy for the future government of the roads. Commissioner Blanchard opened the proceedings by making a short address, counseling harmony, unanimity of action and strict obedience to the new law. A vote was then taken on reports regarding the Mississippi river and the majority report was adopted with two dissenting votes. A committee was appointed to arrange rates in conformity with the basis of rates agreed upon. This disposed of the committee of fifteen named by the chair to arrange and report as to the propriety of continuing the contract traffic association. Both committees will report to-morrow. It was authorized that baggage shall be subject to a charge of not less than 12 per cent. of the lowest unlimited first-class rate for each 100 pounds; provided, however, that no less charge than 25 cents be made in any case, and no single package of baggage more than twenty-five pounds shall be checked as baggage by any of these lines except for ship emigrants. It was resolved that the question of accommodations of second class passengers be referred to the general passenger agents for further report, with recommendation if possible that they make a report abolishing second-class tickets. A committee of thirteen was appointed to consider the issue of mileage tickets and report to-morrow. The meeting adjourned until to-morrow afternoon.

MORE FAILURES AT ST. JOHN.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 8.—The suspension of the Maritime bank of New Brunswick has been followed by the startling announcement of the failures of R. A. & J. Stewart, and of Guy B. Evans & Co., of this city, two of the largest lumber firms in this province. The news of these failures has caused a great sensation, and a perfect panic prevails in business circles.

REDEMPTION OF TRADE DOLLARS.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The redemption of trade dollars began to-day and over 300,000 were offered, of which only 110,000 could be accepted. They will be melted in bars and stored in the assayer's office.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE GREAT CHICAGO WHEAT DEAL.

Condemned Chicago Anarchist to Attend the Funeral of his Wife--Wool Interests--Meeting Railroad Agents.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Panic on the New York Elevated Railroad Causes Several Deaths.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The large tailor establishment of Nicol the tailor, on the Bowery, was destroyed by fire this morning. The fire caused a blockade on the Third Avenue Elevated road, which extended far up above Fourteenth street. The conductor on a train which was blocked a few hundred feet from the Fourteenth-street station notified his passengers they could leave the train and walk over a narrow plank alongside of the track and thus make their way to the station. A number availed themselves of the dangerous privilege, and an awful accident was the result. In some manner a panic was started on the narrow walk far above the street, and a number of persons were flung to the pavement below. It is stated that seven were killed and many injured.

An official report of the accident shows that three persons were killed and seven others badly injured. It appears that a number of passengers left one of the trains at Seventeenth street and started to walk along the narrow foot-path at the side of the track to the station at Fourteenth street. While doing so the blockade was relieved and the trains began to start. The motion shook the pathway to such an extent that a number of the passengers were thrown down to the street below with the result as stated.

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER.

The narrow platform from which the people fell was about two and a half feet wide. It is used by the trackmen when on duty, and above Fourteenth street is not provided with hand rails. When the passengers left the blocked cars and took to the platform the gate men of the trains offered no objection, as they ought to have done. The long line of men was picking its way slowly, when suddenly the train ahead started up and began to move. The next one followed suit, and the successive series of jerks went along the line up to the last train. Each shook the track with a convulsive movement that frightened those in front and made them hurry ahead rapidly to reach the station safely. Those behind saw they were scared and grew nervous in turn. Some were looking anxiously around for support, and a bunch of a dozen, walking in single file just below Fifteenth street, in sight of the platform, hurried forward to catch the gate of the nearest car, when the train of which it was a part suddenly started ahead and nearly shook the foremost one off his feet. Shrinking back in fright from the moving wheels, he crowded against the man behind him, on the very edge of the narrow plank walk. From below, where a crowd was watching the progress of the promenaders in mid-air, a shout of warning arose, but too late. The man seized wildly at his neighbor, in terror of his life. The latter drew back, but the crowd behind was pressing on, and the train was moving on the right. Those further behind saw a momentary halt of the crowd in front, and then one, two, half a dozen were seen

FALLING OVER THE EDGE

Into the street below, from which arose a frightened wail that turned into shrieks of terror and despair as man after man struck the pavement and lay mangled and bleeding. Then followed a wild rush in the street, and a wilder and more desperate one above in the air. The venturesome pedestrians caught at the gates of the train as it passed, and clung with a grip of despair. It pulled up and was stopped almost immediately. The frightened and breathless men were pulled in, and room made for others. In two minutes the plank walk was clear.

Down below in the street a scene of horror was in progress. The men had fallen in the middle of the street on the surface car track. In a ghastly heap, they lay, some motionless, some moaning faintly, and one shrieking wildly in pain and horror. A crowd of thousands, who watched the blockade from below, surged around and closed in upon the scene. Ten had fallen from the track all told; that is, ten were found dead or injured; if any escaped unhurt they were not counted. Three at the bottom of the heap were dead, they had fallen head first and had mashed in their skulls, one and all. The dead-wagon was called, and they were taken to the morgue. Several were more or less desperately injured and some of them will die.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

Information Regarding the Deal in that City.

CHICAGO, March 8.—The wheat pit has been the scene of the wildest excitement to-day that has been known for years. May wheat, which was quoted last week at 77¼ cents, has advanced to 81¾ cents in the past few days, and there is now every sign that a squeeze is contemplated for May delivery. The magnitude of such a speculative undertaking can hardly be realized even by big operators on the board, in view of the large stocks of wheat in sight here and at other points. Last Friday May went up from 79 to 80 cents, and on Saturday the price went to 82¾ cents. Yesterday the price went to 83¾, and shortly before noon to-day the price advanced to 86, but closed at 85¾. At 1 o'clock it is claimed that the shortage is the greatest ever known here, and the statement is made that operators here and for outside customers sold fully forty million bushels additional yesterday in expectation of the big decline in New York. Californians, Cincinnatians and Chicagoans are reported back of the deal, while a large number of local dealers, New York and Englishmen are said to be short. A few bull operators deny that there is any manipulation, and contend that wheat is advancing on its merits, but it is significant that the May and June deliveries are quoted at a premium over distant months.

Closing figures at 1 o'clock were: Wheat, cash, 80¾c; May, 85¾c; June, 84¾c; July, 83¾c; September, 81⅞c. Corn, cash, 35½c; May, 31⅝c; June, [illegible]. Oats, cash, [illegible]c; May, 29¼c. Whisky, $1 18. Pork, cash, $20 55; May, $20 75; June, $20 90. Lard, cash, $7 67½; May, $7 82½c; June, $7 87½.

CHICAGO EVENTS.

A Condemned Anarchist to Attend his Wife's Funeral.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Oscar Neebe, anarchist, will be permitted to attend the funeral of his wife, who died from apoplexy yesterday. Sheriff Marston wrote a letter to one of Neebe's friends, making such request, in which he says: "In reply to your letter I beg leave to say that I can see no objection to Neebe attending the funeral of his deceased wife, and I will send an officer with him for that purpose if his friends will notify me when the funeral will take place. It seems to me that under the circumstances, every one ought to sympathize with him in his bereavement. I most certainly do."

ROLLING MILL ACCIDENT.

A terrible accident occurred at the North Chicago rolling mills about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour a belt on a big flywheel to the machine shop became loose, and a minute later the flywheel flew into pieces, huge fragments of iron being hurled in every direction. The workmen, of whom there were a large number in the room, were struck by flying missiles, and one of them, Frederick Allen, was so badly injured that he cannot live. Allen was struck in the face by a huge chunk of iron, and a terrible wound which left his lungs and heart exposed also badly injured him, and he may not recover.

THE WOOL INTEREST.

The Wool Merchants' association of Chicago has submitted to the Joint Western Classification committee a memorial and petition for the reclassification of wool, so as to place it in the third class, it having been rated heretofore as first-class freight. A petition has been signed by the wool merchants of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit and other smaller distributing points in the west—also by wool merchants of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and leading wool manufacturers of the country, in addition thousands of wool growers and shippers from interior points throughout the west who have already signed petitions; those numerous petitioners, it is claimed, represent the annually handling of more than 100,000,000 pounds of wool and it is urged that the wool growing industry has been during the past few years greatly depressed and in many sections has proved disastrous. The decline in the value of wool during fifteen years, has been from 65, 60, 50 and 40 cents to 30, 25, 20 and 15 cents per pound, and the entire clip of the United States during the past two years has not paid to wool growers an average price exceeding 17 cents per pound, and for this reason the clip has been reduced, as variously estimated, from 30,000 to 500,000 pounds during the past year; whereas had business shown no actual loss, the natural increase would have been 15 to 25 per cent. annually. Should the petition be granted, it is claimed that it would give new life to the discouraged growers and do much to invigorate this languishing industry of the West.

MEETING OF RAILROAD AGENTS.

At the meeting of the managers of the transcontinental roads to-day the committee on Pacific coast differentials recommended that the St. Louis rate be fixed at 90 per cent. of the Chicago rate, which was adopted. The committee on differentials between the El Paso and Missouri river could not agree, and the managers could reach no decision. The Southern Pacific and Atchison will be left to fight it out under the new law without previous agreement.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

MURDERED BY MEXICANS.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 8.—A special to the Democrat says, a horrible double murder occurred at Lackey's sheep ranch, near here, one day last week. On Friday a party riding past the ranch discovered the cabin burned and the body of Frassier, Lackey's partner, lying a short distance away, with the back perforated with bullets, as though shot while running away. Lackey was missing, and on searching the ruins of the cabin, his charred remains were found among them. On Friday afternoon several shots were heard fired in the vicinity, and four Mexicans were seen leaving a short time afterwards. It is supposed they committed the crime for money Lackey was known to have.

BASEBALL LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The delegates to the league baseball meeting met in secret session at noon, and took up the question of the eighth club matter, and after discussion was referred back to the committee, which have the matter in charge, with instructions to listen to the various propositions and report their conclusions to the full league at a subsequent meeting. The league then adjourned and the committee of three, Day, Young and Spalding began their work. The committee were in session until 7 o'clock, and adjourned without reaching any conclusion. Indianapolis delegates offered $12,000 for the franchise of the St. Louis club. The St. Louis delegate thought the amount too small, but said he would consider it and give an answer to-morrow at the 10 o'clock session. The schedule was not taken up for the disposal of Denny and Glasscock. The Kansas City club has withdrawn its offer of $12,000 for the St. Louis club franchise, which improves the chances of Indianapolis. Six of the seven league members are understood to favor the Hoosiers, and Spalding only, supported Kansas City, and he said to-night that he was reasonably sure that Indianapolis would be the eighth club. Reach, Day, Rowe, Sowden, Hewitt, Stearns and Conant were confident that Indianapolis would be the winning card.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The second day's session of the national base ball league was finished this evening. The St. Louis club accepted the offer of $12,000 for its franchise, and the Indianapolis club was then formally admitted. The players over whom there has been so much discussion will all go to the new club, and Indianapolis cannot sell them to any other club for a year. The league offer the Kansas City club $6,000 for its franchise and players, and Kansas City will give their answer to the league to-morrow. The league afterwards offered the Cowboys $4000 for McQuery, Bassett, Donnelly, Whitney, Myers and Raddenburg, and $3500 for the five without Raddenburg, but they refused. The Indianapolis club will get Hackett and Graves, catchers; Healy, Kirby, Boyle and Weidman, pitchers; Shomberg, first base; Bassett, second base; Denny, third base; Glasscock, short stop; Cahill, right field; Seery, center field; McGeachy, left field. Washington club will get Whitney, pitcher; Almeyers, second base; Donnelly, third base; O'Brien, catcher. The schedule was discussed.

FATAL DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The dynamite works of Mrs. Mary A. Ditmar, at Bay Chester, on Long Island sound, was blown up for the fifth time at 1 o'clock to-day, killing one man and leveling the building to the ground. The last previous explosion was on September 30 last, at which time four Italians employed in the packing house were blown to atoms. There is not a vestige of the building left except small black splinters about three or four inches long. The site of the building is marked by a hole about ten feet deep and twenty feet in diameter. The detonation was heard twenty five miles, and the shock was felt in all the surrounding villages, and the people ran out of their houses in a panic, thinking it was an earthquake. Windows were broken nearly a mile away. The unfortunate young man's body could not all be found, and Coroner Tice gathered up some teeth, the skull and one foot, which were put into a package and were viewed by the jury, which was immediately summoned.

RACING MATCH PROBABLE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 8.—John D. Morris, owner of Montana Regent, is in Memphis with his entire stable of horses recently purchased at Lexington, Ky. The challenge of E. J. Baldwin made to James Murphy, Morris's trainer, through the Spirit of the Times, to match Volante against Montana Regent for $5000 to $20,000, has been shown to Morris, and when asked by the associated press reporter what reply he would make to Baldwin, Mr. Morris said: "The horse and money are both here and if Mr. Baldwin desires a race for 2¼ miles for $10,000 he can be accommodated. The race to come off during the spring meeting of the Memphis Jockey club, which begins April 25 and continues one week." Col. H. E. Montgomery, president of the jockey club, will give to the winner of this match, if made, the finest cup that was ever run for in America.

A CHURCH TO ST. PATRICK.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Catholics of New York are manifesting a keen interest in the movement which has been started for the purpose of collecting funds to build a memorial church at Rome to the Irish patron, St. Patrick, and an effort will in all probability be made at the coming celebration of St. Patrick's day to organize a contributing fund in this state. It is proposed to collect at least $1,000,000 for the new church, which is to be one of the grandest in the eternal city. Individual Irishmen have already forwarded money to newspapers for the purpose of starting an interest in a public fund and private meetings have been held in Jersey City, Newark and Trenton to discuss the subject.

DEATH OF A MISSIONARY.

BOSTON, March 7.—Rev. William S. Howland, missionary for the American board of commissioners for foreign missions in Madura, India, died of fever at Auburndale this evening, forty-two hours after the death of his wife from pleuro-pneumonia. Two of his children are now very ill with fever. Mr. Howland was the oldest of sixteen sons of Rev. W. W. Howland, for forty years a missionary in Ceylon. He was born in Ceylon in 1846 and has been a missionary in India for thirteen years, and had been very successful.

KILLED BY A MEXICAN.

GALVESTON, March 8.—A special from Laredo, Texas, says: Yesterday, at a point a mile above this city, a boy was crossing the Rio Grande in a skiff, and when he was within twenty feet of the Mexican shore a customs guard fired on him, killing him. The shooting was witnessed from the American side. The boy had about six-bits' worth of contraband goods in the skiff. Mexican officials promptly arrested the guard on a charge of murder.

PRISONERS TO BE RELEASED.

DETROIT, March 8.—Ten Latter Day Saints from Idaho, who have been in the house of correction here for over six months, are expecting to be released to-morrow on a writ of habeas corpus. Each was sentenced for nine months, receiving what is known as a cumulative sentence. It is now claimed that such sentence is unconstitutional, and the prisoners will probably be released.

INCORPORATION OF A GOULD RAILROAD.

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—The articles of reincorporation of the Wabash railroad, under name of the Wabash Western railway, were filed with the secretary of state at Jefferson City to day. The incorporators are: Theo. H. Hubbard and O. D. Ashley, of New York; E. T. Wells, of Hartford, Conn., and A. A. Talmage and James F. Howe, of St. Louis. The capital stock is $30,000,000.

THE AURANIA SAFE.

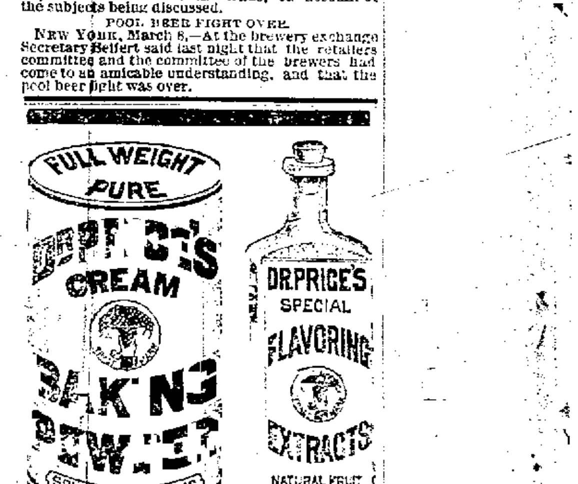

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Cunard line steamer Aurania, from Liverpool, which ran ashore in the mud off Big Ridge, Long Island, late Saturday afternoon, was got off this morning and has subsequently arrived at her dock. She had on board 518 passengers, 120 of whom were cabin, 47 second-rate and 311 steerage.

OAK LEATHER TANNERS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8.—The third annual convention of the National Oak Leather Tanners' association was begun here this afternoon at the Galt house, with a good attendance of members. The meeting will last about two days, and will be of particular interest to the trade, on account of the subjects being discussed.

POOL BEER FIGHT OVER.

NEW YORK, March 8.—At the brewery exchange Secretary Seifert said last night that the retailers committee and the committee of the brewers had come to an amicable understanding, and that the pool beer fight was over.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1887.

WHAT WAS THE MATTER.

At the annual meeting of Plymouth church, held in December, 1883, Beecher's pastoral helper, Halliday, reported that out of 2500 members but sixty were present; that the Sunday school was at a stand-still; that year by year the contributions were falling off until they had reached a miserable condition. With one exception the contributions had decreased one-half. This was the situation less than nine years after the famous trial. Yet the decline of Plymouth was not due to any decline in Beecher's superficial powers as a preacher; he was then as fresh, vigorous and captivating in his pulpit personally as when in 1874 he stood before the committee of his church, rubbing his hands, beating his breast and triumphantly boasting that he never was better in his life, and that he felt as if there were twenty years of hard work in him. The trouble with Plymouth church was that since the famous trial Beecher never recovered the spiritual confidence of that portion of the public who do not go to church for amusement; who do not regard a church as a sort of sanctified theater or opera house; who do not go to church to be dazzled by a display of pulpit dramatics, but who go there for humble and devout worship: for spiritual illumination and refreshment. The Rev. Dr. Storrs, the Rev. Dr. Taylor and the late Dr. Budington were sincerely persuaded of Beecher's moral unfitness to stand in a Christian pulpit, and they dropped him from the day that the testimony of the great trial was spread before the public. Behind these clergymen stood a tremendous force of public opinion. Plymouth church made desperate efforts to hold up its head. Mr. Beecher himself resisted his fate with a courage, an art and an energy that extorted admiration even from those who believed him guilty, or at least were doubtful of his innocence. But Plymouth church was forced to live on the support of those who valued Beecher, not in the confidential and delicate relation of a great pastor and spiritual guide, but as a great actor who thrills a theater, as a great orator who extorts applause. But after all, Beecher, since the great trial, has been nothing but a great ship wrestling with a great storm: he has fired his batteries; he has sent up his various colored rockets to the skies; he has displayed stout and skillful seamanship, but in spite of all his efforts "Plymouth church" has steadily drifted nearer the breakers, and not even Beecher's strong hand was able to make her successfully ride the seas.

Beecher was to Plymouth church what Bismarck is to the imperial military despotism of Germany, and now when Plymouth church has lost its Bismarck it will split up like a ship at sea that has lost at once its captain, pilot and anchor. Beecher died slowly of the same want of public confidence that wrecked Adirondack Murray; he died more slowly and his final throes were more startling than those of Murray, because he was a bigger whale and harder to kill. The blubber fat of his pulpit and extraordinary social and political strength made it harder fatally to wound him, but he felt the iron at last in his heart if not in his soul, when in 1883 he mournfully said that he felt as if he was losing his power in the church and that his usefulness was rapidly coming to an end. Old friends that once greeted him with effusive cordiality were but coldly courteous: many were not even that. Old places of honor where he was once the most welcome guest he no longer visited, because he was not invited. While his intellect was as efficient, his energy as remarkable as ever, his influence dwindled down to comparatively small proportions. He was only king in the Lilliput of Plymouth church where he was once one of the most conspicuous of the nation's moral and spiritual leaders. His fate was a mournful one and yet it is not without an obvious and striking lesson, viz: that something more is wanted to restore a lost moral leader to his place beyond the disagreement of a jury and the wild, immoral enthusiasm of a nondescript congregation. The moral classes in America are not in the majority, but their minority verdict was against Beecher and proved fatal to him; and hence from a superb figure he became a shrunken shape. The moral public opinion of America did not convict Beecher on the testimony of anybody but himself. Out of his own mouth and by the light of his terribly accusing letters the moral public of America convicted Beecher, and this resistless minority verdict was slowly but surely rubbing out Beecher and Plymouth church. The spiritual forces of his church long since deserted it, scaled off to other churches, leaving behind only the sensational, theatric forces, on which no real Christian church can ever live long. As a "family church" Plymouth became a failure. A family church needs spirituality not sensationalism, both in the pulpit and the congregation. If it have not a pastor that stands for moral confidence in the pulpit; if its methods are worldly and sensational rather than spiritual, it is soon a sick church. It may continue to be a popular joss house and gilded pagoda for the intellectual and histrionic pagans of the metropolis, but as a Christian church it is sick unto death.

Of Beecher it may be said that in spite of his great talents he was a failure because his soul was never in his pulpit work; he had brains enough to construct a very powerful, impressive and popular sermon, but that is something that may involve purely intellectual, not spiritual energy. His restlessness under his pastoral burdens showed this. He was willing to be a dramatic pulpit orator, but it was repulsive to him to be a pastor. No man whose soul was in his holy calling would have consented thus to separate the preacher from the pastor. The pastoral work of course involved self-denial, self-sacrifice, it brought with it little of compensation for toil that the public dramatic display of the pulpit secures, but if Beecher had been a man with the ring of true moral genius in him, like Channing and Parker; if he had been a man with not only an intellectual but a spiritual title to stand in the pulpit, he would have deemed the pastoral work of his parish as noble and worthy employment for his time and energies as floating irons in every political or social wate-fire from Maine to Oregon. He was not a man with a spiritual message in his mouth; his nature was not pure and spiritually unselfish, like that of Parker. Parker not only preached against slavery, but he took the slave by the hand and received him into the castle of his family; he not only preached temperance but he gave untiring personal effort to help with his purse, his wisdom and his affectionate counsel all those who were in the chains of spiritual slavery to unworthy appetites. Parker was pre-eminently a great and useful pastor and was proudest of his pastoral work of which the world could know comparatively nothing; he was without the dross of self love and therefore destitute of the taint of pulpit sensationalism. Beecher enjoyed life immensely, but was a magnificent intellectual animal rather than a man of spiritual genius; he was capable of throwing down a spiritual study of the life of Christ for the material contemplation of the pedigree of Lexington or Leamington.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM.

There are intimations that the transcontinental railroads, as soon as practicable after the commissioners are appointed under the interstate commerce bill, will endeavor to secure a hearing for the doctrine that the conditions of Pacific coast business are so radically dissimilar from those prevailing in most other parts of the country that this business ought to be excepted from the operation of section 4 of the act. The position is that under the clause forbidding a greater charge for a shorter than for a longer haul, "under circumstances and conditions substantially similar," the section may be suspended by the commissioners, as to Pacific coast business, since the circumstances and conditions under which this business is done and must be done are not "substantially similar" to those prevailing in most other parts of the country.

That the circumstances and conditions are radically dissimilar is unquestionable. Rigorous enforcement of the law will cut off the business of the roads to terminal points on the Pacific seaboard, and transfer the same to the ocean and to the Canadian Pacific. Hence it is argued that our transcontinental lines should be so far exempted or relieved from the operation of the act as to enable them to carry from the East to San Francisco, to Portland, and to other points subject to ocean competition.

This argument, there is reason to believe, will be presented to the commissioners. The question is whether they will regard themselves as justified in yielding to it. They have power to do so, and the argument that it is proper for them to do so may be strongly presented. What the roads will ask is simply permission to make such rates to points on the seaboard as will enable them to meet ocean competition at those points; for, if this permission is not granted the roads will be obliged to surrender their business at all points accessible from the ocean. This will virtually cut them off from the great marts of western trade. A further result will be to throw additional burdens upon the traffic to interior points, since what the roads lose by deprivation of through business they must make up on local business.

It is a knotty problem, and probably it must wait for solution till experience shall come to the aid of theoretical and speculative interpretation.

TAUGHT BY NECESSITY.

There are simple and necessary truths for the ordinary conduct of life which long ago were known to mankind. These truths do not change and there is no escaping them. Men sometimes regard them as irksome; sometimes they regard them as foolish things which no one needs to obey. This often is their feeling toward the humble maxims of prudence and industry, which they try to disregard or argue out of existence altogether. But these maxims are founded on principles as irrefragable as the decalogue itself. Man may break and often does break himself in pieces upon them; but there they stand, "whole as the mountain, founded as the rock," from age to age.

One of the modern apostles of labor—the gentlemen who devote themselves to what they call the philosophy and literature of the subject—recently wrote: "Of all suggestions offered to the working man to enable him to get on in the world, the most worthless is to tell him that he must practice economy. This word 'economy' is dinned into your ears till all patience is lost. The universal prescription, 'economy,' is but a remedy of quackery. You want more to enjoy, not to stint what you have."

Well, then, if there is no remedy in economy, where is the remedy? The virtue of economy, copartner with industry, lies at the bottom of all ordinary and average prosperity. It has been so always; it must be so always. Economy includes the whole stock of virtues necessary to decent and sober living; it includes the industry that accumulates and the prudence that saves; it demands forethought, sobriety, moderation in eating, in drinking, in apparel, in search for amusement; it requires judicious employment of time that none be wasted, and instruction of children in the ways of industry, thrift and helpfulness. Resources for himself man has ever found herein, and he can surely find them nowhere else.

This is a very old gospel. It was recognized ages ago as a fundamental truth of human existence. But the foolish denied it then, and tried in vain to set it aside, as they do now. Cicero, writing two thousand years ago, of the very same class we have at this day—deriders of economy—described them exactly, as "men who do not perceive how great a revenue economy is"—non intelligunt homines quam magnum vectigal sit parsimonia. There is indeed nothing new under the sun. The experiences of human life repeat themselves from age to age; there is no form of folly that is not as old as the truth which is its opposite, and all forms of folly always have been and probably always will be as prevalent as nature will allow them to be without extermination, or, at least, without extreme punishment, of the race. For the folly, for example, that "there is nothing in economy," or that "the philosophy of economy is false," can't be pursued far without destruction; nature avenges herself, and forces men, through suffering, to wiser ways.

Through such means nature also enforces temperate living. Her prohibitory liquor law is more rigid and effective than all human statutes. Men find that they must let alcoholic liquors alone, or at least use them sparingly, or die. Some, indeed, do not obey the mandate, and nature sternly enforces her decree of death. The limit to human folly in every direction is the suffering enforced by nature for violation of her easy and simple, yet exacting and rigorous laws.

THE PROPOSED N. P. EXTENSION.

It is not alone its eagerness for the land grant that moves the Northern Pacific to extend its road down the Columbia river to Portland. If this were all we should have small hope in the prospect. The truth is that the Northern Pacific now finds itself in a very tight place. In its eager cultivation of its supposed interests at Tacoma it has given the Portland trade, the only really profitable trade in the country, to the Union Pacific. On the other hand, it has antagonized the Seattle trade, which is now pledged to the Canadian Pacific.

The fact is now thoroughly realized that there is no money to be made in transportation in the Northwest without direct connection with the chief market, the chief place of supply and the commercial depot. That place, of course, is Portland. Another fact is realized, namely: that in transportation to and from the seaboard to the Columbia river basin a mountain route cannot compete with a level route. Grain can never be hauled over the Cascade mountains as cheaply as down the Columbia river. The bulk of the productions of the Columbia river basin must come down the Columbia river under the operation of the same natural law that makes water run down hill. All this is now well understood by men prominent in the management of the Northern Pacific, and they are, it seems, urging the directory to push on down the river to Portland. The land grant is an important consideration, but it is far less important than the necessity of reaching Portland by the shortest and easiest route possible.

We can only surmise as to details. If it is determined to come down to Portland, the Columbia will probably be crossed at Pasco Junction, near the mouth of Snake river. The line will most likely be built through the Klickitat country, striking the river near The Dalles and following its northern bank through the gorge of the Cascades. From the western end of the gorge, it would probably sheer to the north and follow the south fork of the Lewis river to the Columbia opposite the foot of Sauvie's island, thence to Kalama, across the river to Portland. The route as outlined is two hours' run out of direct line but such a course would bring it into Portland and avoid bridge tolls. But all this, it should be remembered, is mere conjecture.

If the Northern Pacific builds this line, there will of course be an end to division of territory with the Oregon Railway & Navigation in the Columbia river basin. As a matter of necessity branch lines would be extended into the grain country both north and south of Snake river. All of which would be a fine thing for Portland, as well as for the producers of Eastern Oregon and Washington.

That semi-democratic, thoroughly mugwumpish and decidedly able paper, the New York Times, says: "The democratic party is in a condition of very unstable equilibrium. It has more leaders than it can safely carry, and as many opinions and policies as there are sides to the prominent public questions of the day." This doesn't miss the facts.

Disappointment over the "pocket veto" of the Idaho annexation bill is intense both in Idaho and Washington. A local paper remarks that it "is safe to say that Cleveland will not get an electoral vote from either in 1888."

Whatever may be thought of Beecher, there may be said of him what can be said of few men—his death leaves a void. In the whole country there is no man to take his place in Plymouth pulpit.

The usual reports about unusual depths of snow in the mountains are coming, and their are the usual prognostications of an unusual flood. But nobody need give himself special concern.

THE TERRIBLE LETTERS.

The refusal of a number of Congregational ministers in Chicago to vote for resolutions, which implied endorsement of the dying Beecher as a man or a theologian, was not surprising. It is notorious that a number of Congregational churches do not fellowship with Plymouth church, and reject Beecher's peculiar theology; and it is equally notorious that a number of Congregational ministers, and ministers of other churches, have never admitted him to moral fellowship since his trial. The refusal of Rev. Dr. Storrs to attend a recent public banquet where Beecher was advertised to be present, and the rebuke given Dr. McGlynn by Archbishop Corrigan because he once associated with Beecher, are illustrations of the strength of scepticism concerning his moral purity. Some of these clergymen are among the ablest and best men in the church, all of them had once been Beecher's conspicuous friends. All Beecher had to do to retain their confidence was to explain the terrible letters which he confessed to have written, and of whose language of abject self-accusation, self-denunciation, moral agony, remorse and supplication there was no solution offered that was not absolutely incredible and inconsistent with innocence. These letters, as the written utterance of a literary man who knew by thirty years of practice the value and precise meaning of words, pointed to the commission of some very grave offense, the stinging memory of which found expression in the lowest deep of moral humiliation; they were full of wild despair; they spoke of "tying up the thunderstorm ready to burst on his head;" of "the terrible emergency of my life;" of "living on the sharp, ragged edge of anxiety" that made the hope of death welcome; of Tilton "condoning his wife's fault;" of willingness to come down and step out of a great pulpit if his accusers wished; and altogether these letters presented a fearful picture of a powerful nature in the most convulsive throbs of moral shame, mental suffering and dread. In explanation of all this extravagant misery, contrition and apology Beecher's answer, in substance, was that he had advised a good woman to leave a bad husband; the good woman had not even taken this good advice, and yet all this eloquent agony of his letters referred to this trivial act. Of course nobody of sense and candor swallowed such an explanation for the following extracts from these remarkable letters:

BROOKLYN, January 1 1871.
[In trust with F. D. Moulton.]

My Dear Friend Moulton: I ask through you Theodore Tilton's forgiveness, and I humble myself before him as I do before my God. He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been. I can ask nothing except that he will remember all the other hearts that would ache. I will not plead for myself. I even wish I were dead; but others must live and suffer.

I will die before any one but myself shall be implicated. All my thoughts are running toward my friends, toward the poor child lying there and praying with her folded hands. She is guiltless—sinned against; bearing the transgression of another. Her forgiveness I have. I humbly pray to God that he may put it into the heart of her husband to forgive me.

I have trusted this to Moulton in confidence.

Again:

If my destruction would place him all right, that shall not stand in the way. I am willing to step down and out. No one can offer more than that. That I do offer. Sacrifice me without hesitation, if you can clearly see your way to his safety and happiness thereby. I do not think that anything would be gained by it. I should be destroyed, but he would not be saved. E. and the children would have their future clouded. In one point of view, I could desire the sacrifice on my part. Nothing can possibly be so bad as the horror of great darkness in which I spend much of my time. I look upon death as sweeter faced than any friend I have in the world. Life would be pleasant if I could see rebuilt that which is shattered. But to live on the sharp and ragged edge of anxiety, remorse, fear, despair, and yet to put on all the appearance of serenity and happiness, cannot be endured much longer.

The whole correspondence, including many letters running through four years, was all of this lurid color of moral crime in which he had been detected and denounced, and because of which this "Lion of Judah" had crouched like a trembling hare at the feet of Tilton. Beecher was not convicted by public opinion, because of Moulton, or Tilton or Mrs. Moulton; he was convicted solely because he utterly failed to explain these letters. Without those letters he would have escaped, but his failure to give any sane solution damned him to everlasting doubt if not disgrace. His testimony was eloquent, dramatically delivered, but it was utterly absurd, since he admitted under oath, having stooped to things which indicated deeper depravity than the crime imputed to him. A literary workman by profession, no where in his extemporaneous or written discourse did Beecher ever take the language of tragedy to describe a flea bite; he was vigorous, accurate, precise above the average of educated men in his use of language; he was 55 years of age, a man of the world, of social life and politics; keen and shrewd, and his so-called explanation was treated by many eminent clergymen with contempt. It would not be accepted in court for the most sentimental, half-educated, intense school girl; and it could not be accepted for a mature master of English expression. Nothing but guilt or gibbering idiocy will explain those letters, and idiocy never was Beecher. But the essential inconsistency and incredibility of these letters with innocence and their entire consistency with guilt, fearfully corroborated with other damning documentary evidence, was not all the testimony upon which the eminent clergymen, who refused further moral fellowship with Beecher, rested their confidence in his guilt. The late Rev. Dr. William H. Lord, originally a powerful partisan of Beecher in his pulpit, finally, openly and without qualification, in the press and the church, denounced him as guilty. Dr. Lord, in his investigations among his brethren of the Congregational churches of New York and Brooklyn after the trial, had proofs of Beecher's guilt in no less than eleven different instances submitted to him, including families whose mouths were stopped from public accusation or denunciation by the fact that to break silence before the civil or ecclesiastical tribunal would blazon the shame that their kin had suffered to the press of the country; and Dr. Lord declared that when Beecher defied and denied his accusers by calling, with tears in his eyes, on God and his mother in heaven to bear witness to his innocence he was nothing but an unprincipled actor of genius playing perjurer and blasphemer. Beecher, standing up in the Brooklyn council, after his trial, defying the angels of God to say aught against him, challenging God to accuse him of evil, was a bellowing defiance of the witnesses of Heaven by one who in court had doubled and twisted and dodged and quibbled to avoid and exclude the objectionable witnesses of earth. On trial he forgot everything that was dangerous to remember, but when he saw a lead opened that he could push to his own advantage his memory was fairly radiant with its glittering torrent of eloquent recollection and reminiscence; he was what innocence never is—a cunning and wary tactician under cross-examination. He who summoned God and the angels to the witness stand after trial was the same man who for years plotted and contrived to suppress human testimony, to keep an infamous something from the knowledge of the church and the public; he was the same man that wrote those secret letters in terms of awful self-accusation that is irreconcilable with innocence; he was the same man who, when he had an opportunity to force out all the facts, chose to be tried in a suit and under conditions that excluded all objectionable visible witnesses from the stand, and took an appeal to the invisible tribunal that is silent whether questioned by the voice of truth or insulted by a liar. No wonder to-day there are not a few clergymen that refuse to approve Beecher either as a moral leader or a theologian. Sympathy for the dying dictates the false philosophy which says "speak no evil of the dead," but to speak only the truth of the dead is the only way to escape evil speech or the cowardly silence over evil that implies approval of evil or indifference to evil.

At several towns in Eastern Oregon meetings have been called to express the public indignation over the "pocket veto" of the river and harbor bill.

TURKEY.

FUNERAL OF CONSUL-GENERAL HEAP.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 8.—The funeral of G. Harris Heap, late U. S. consul-general, took place to-day. Sir William A. White, British ambassador, was present, together with the whole diplomatic body. All prominent members of the American-English society here were the general's pall bearers. The remains were conveyed to the English cemetery at Scutari on board the English embassy's launch. The cortege followed on the Imogene steam yacht, attached to the English embassy. Rev. George Washington, chaplain of the British embassy, conducted the service and Canon Curtis assisted. Turkish gendarmes escorted the cortege through the streets.

The C. P. Steamship Line.

The New York Journal of Commerce says that the line of steamers to be put on by the Canadian Pacific Railroad company for its trans-Pacific trade will be composed of the former Cunard vessels, the Parthia, Abyssinia and Batavia, each one of which has lately been refitted with new engines of the triple compound class and is capable of steaming from thirteen to fourteen knots, with cabin passenger accommodations for from forty to sixty persons.

It is intended to make the departures every four weeks, the Parthia commencing the line and leaving Hong Kong about May 1. The trip between Hong Kong, Japan and Vancouver will take about twenty-eight days.

Bound to a Man they Dislike.

Galveston News (Dem.)

It is not often that one man becomes an absolute necessity in the sense in which circumstances seem to point to Grover Cleveland for democratic renomination in 1888. And yet, after all, there is something sad in contemplating the singular relation of Mr. Cleveland to congress and to the two parties. At best he is only a negative force. He cannot resolve into intelligible, practicable, clear-cut, political issues the anarchy of ideas behind the machinery and forms of party organization, and he cannot rouse into progressive and remedial action the paralysis of legislation touching political questions of vital importance.

How Indiana Thrills.

Shelbyville Democrat.

Now we know that the democracy should nominate Gov. David B. Hill for president in 1888. That Brooklyn speech convinces us that we want just such a man in the White house. He says that he would turn out republicans simply because they are republicans. That he is proud to say that he is a democrat and that he believes in boasting of his democracy. How refreshing it would be to elect such a man in these days of cowardice and mugwumpery!

Keep Your Blood Pure.

Impure blood, however generated, is always present in the body when pain is felt; it spreads and ferments wherever a weak spot exists.

Take BRANDRETH'S PILLS to make the blood pure and expel all that is hurtful to the system. They are the one great and unfailing remedy. They cleanse the bowels and restore equal circulation throughout the body. They preserve the vigor of youth and often save life.

DR. SMITH'S REPLY TO THE WELCOME.

PORTLAND, Or., March 5, 1887.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Dear Sir:—In the Sunday Welcome of the 6th appears an article accusing me of leaving Portland to avoid paying my long-suffering and much-abused creditors. For the benefit of these creditors, I will state that I am now staying at the Quimby House, and will be pleased to see them at any time and talk. I can make everything satisfactory. I do not deny that I owe some bills here, but the aggregate amount is so small that it would not recompense any man for the loss of his credit and reputation. I do not know as yet who was the author of the article in question, but any just-minded business man could not fail to be impressed with the totally uncalled for acrimony displayed. It can only be some one who has been seeking to injure me professionally. The author of the article had no doubt persuaded himself into believing that I would not return, and did not hesitate to give vent to his spleen; but, unfortunately for him, I was timely informed of the fact that such an article would appear in the Sunday Welcome.

As far as the accusation of borrowing money is concerned, I have not had to resort to that except in one instance, and then security was given which was satisfactory to the one who loaned it.

My connection with the "Mutual Hospital Aid Association," by which I have no doubt they mean the "bath house," was of short duration, simply because I resigned on account of ill health in Colorado and am prepared to show letters from Dr. Keene, expressing profound regret on account of my severance from the company.

The property I owned in Manitoba, although almost worthless now, represented in 1882 a larger investment in cash than the whole plant of the Welcome. For proof of this, simply write to Winnipeg and Emerson.

Who the poor unfortunate saloon keepers are who I defrauded of their hard-earned gains, I am sure I do not know, but by presenting their several accounts they will receive attention.

Appended is a letter from Mr. Thompson, denying that I at any time issued orders upon him that were not paid, which I think is quite sufficient to damn the whole article as a falsehood and stigmatize it as emanating from the pen of some being who, not content with wallowing in the mire himself, must fain attempt to drag others down to his own level.

Thanking you kindly for publishing the above, I am yours,
JOHN SMITH, M. D.

To Dr. John Smith—Dear Sir: In relation to the article published in the Sunday Welcome of the 6th, I would state that no drafts or checks were ever received by me from you during your late absence from the city. Yours truly,
WILLIAM A. THOMPSON.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A BIG CAT FISH.—The gang waiting at the Union depot for the arrival of the Kalama train yesterday, whiled away the time, the train being late, in talking about fish and fishing. First they talked about the different kinds of fish and which kind each liked best. The Columbia river smelt received a unanimous vote as the best fish in the whole world. Then Chinook salmon was discussed and acknowledged to be fine, but voted by some to be too rich. Halibut and codfish, flounders, sole, perch, rock cod, and in short all the fish now in market passed under review and were pronounced upon. At last a tall Pike county Missourian spoke up in favor of the catfish. Instantly several others joined in the praise of the "cat" and began to talk of fishing for "cats," and of the different varieties of "cats," the channel cat, the mud cat, blue cat, flannel-mouth cat, yellow cat, spotted cat. Then they discussed the subject of fishing for cats, especially the great pleasure of "jugging" for cats, and finally got to telling of the big cats they had caught. The stories grew bigger and bigger till at last a hotel coachman with a big leather apron told of catching a cat at the mouth of the Yazoo which was so long that when a rail was run through its gills and laid on the shoulders of two six-foot negroes the tail dragged on the ground. "Why," continued the enthusiastic fisherman, "the head of that catfish was as big as a washtub." Just then the train was seen and all flew to their stations, and this last is the biggest fish heard from, so far.

VALUABLE BOTANICAL CATALOGUE.—A catalogue of all the known plants (phaenogamia and pteridophyta) of Oregon, Washington and Idaho has been handed THE OREGONIAN by Thomas Howell, the well known botanist of Arthur, Sauvie's island. Mr. Howell has probably a more extended personal acquaintance with the flora of Oregon than any other man, as he has traveled all over the state and adjoining territories collecting specimens. His catalogue is not only compiled by himself, but he also set the type and printed it himself. As there is no work on the flora of that part of the United States lying west of Wyoming and north of California, this mere list of the species known within this section, he trusts, will be of some use until such time as something better can be compiled. In 1881 Mr. Howell published a catalogue containing all species and varities known in the section covered by the present catalogue, which amounted to 1844. The present catalogue contains 2152 species and 227 varieties, 2379 in all, an increase of 535 species and varieties, or about 30 per cent in six years. He thinks the next six years will show a greater rate of increase, as the botany of this region is but imperfectly known.

ON TRIAL FOR ARSON.—In Judge Stearns's court yesterday Ellis Roberts was tried before a jury for burning W. S Ladd's barn in East Portland on the night of July 30 last, Robert A Byrnys, one of Roberts's accomplices, pleaded guilty. Charles Gate, the other party implicated in the transaction, turned state's evidence. Gale and Byrnys and his wife were the principal witnesses against Roberts It was elicited by the evidence that the trio were members of what is known as "The International Workingmen's Association," and set fire to the barn for the purpose of destroying it, just out of pure meanness, or because at the time they were afflicted with a communistic spirit. Nothing was brought out during the trial that tended to show what the parties intended to gain by the wanton destruction of the barn. H Citron, who appeared for Roberts, made the point in his argument to the jury that according to well recognized authorities, the testimony of accomplices should not be considered District Attorney McGinn represented the state The jury retired for deliberation last night, and at last accounts were still out.

WOOD VS. COAL.—The Portland flouring mills were shut down yesterday in order that the grate bars might be removed from the furnaces. Mr T B Wilcox, manager of the mills, has been experimenting for some time quite extensively with coal from local mines as fuel, and has come to the conclusion that for the present the mill can be run more cheaply with wood As there is 700 horse power needed to keep the machinery in the mill running, the cost of fuel becomes quite an item in the cost of producing flour. Of course Mr. Wilcox was enabled to secure the lowest rates possible for coal, but the cost of transportation is so great that it cannot be used with profit. Of course, there is plenty of wood convenient to the mills and in making a contract, as he has, for 15,000 cords, he gets it at very low rates In a few years, when the wood has to be shipped by boat or rail and the rates for transporting coal have been reduced, the latter will probably come into general use in mills and factories. It is rapidly growing in favor for house consumption on account of its being less trouble than wood.

SHOULD HAVE GOOD SERVICE.—It appears that the orders received by Postmaster Roby in regard to the mail service on the narrow gauge, to be commenced on the 29th inst., only contemplate a service with closed pouches, that is to say, the mails will be made up at the office here for all the eighteen postoffices on the east side and nine offices on the west side, and that all mail taken on along the routes for other points on the routes will have to be carried to the terminal offices and then sorted out and sent out next day. This will not give nearly as good service as if mail agents were placed on the cars and will require an addition to the force in the office here. It is hardly probable that even if the service is started on this plan it will continue that way long, for a railway mail service without railway mail agents would be an anomaly in these times. The narrow gauge system traverses a popular and wealthy section of the state and will carry a large amount of mail and it should be delivered expeditiously and not in the style of bygone years.

THE BURRELL ESTATE.—In the matter of the estate of the partnership of Knapp, Burrell & Co and M. S Burrell, deceased, D. P. Thompson and Walter F Burrell, administrators of the estate, appeared before the county court yesterday and filed an account of their stewardship. They showed the receipts to be, since the filing of the last account, $250,433 50, of which $250,145 45 was disbursed—distributed between R B. Knapp, surviving member of the firm, and the executors of the last will of M. S Burrell, which was approved by the court. The court ordered that as there still remain certain accounts and bills receivable due the estate not yet reduced to money by R B Knapp and W H Wallace, to whom they were transferred in trust by an order of the court, that it will not be practicable to settle said partnership at this time, and the same was therefore extended to March 10, 1888

INQUEST HELD.—Coroner Do Lin yesterday held an inquest on the body of William Simpson, locked up in the city jail February 8 h, as insane Simpson jumped off of his bunk several times to the floor and sustained injuries such as to necessitate his removal to the Good Samaritan hospital. From the effects of these injuries last Saturday he died Simpson when taken to the hospital had an attack of paralysis Before expiring he became rational Dr Saylor, who made a post mortem examination, testified before the coroner yesterday, that besides injuries about the head, the deceased's neck was partially dislocated. The verdict of the jury was that Simpson came to his death from injuries inflicted by himself It was at the urgent request of Simpson's brother that the inquest was held

SUCCESSFUL IRIDECTOMY FOR GLAUCOMA.—Eight months ago Mr. E D Peirce, a well-known citizen of East Portland, was attacked by one of the most dangerous diseases known to afflict the eye—glaucoma Last August the right eye being nearly blind and extremely painful, was removed Previously the disease had attacked the other eye, and the sight began to fail rapidly In October Mr. Peirce consulted Dr E C Brown, who explained the nature of the disease and the great importance of an operation At the time Dr Brown operated fingers could only be counted at a distance of three feet. The result was a complete success, not only relieving the excruciating pain and saving Mr Peirce from complete blindness, but restoring his sight so that now he can read his morning paper.

THE BLUNDERING COMPOSITOR.—Occasionally, with "copy" as plain as print and apparently no possible chance to err, some blundering compositor will cause a paper to make a statement so foolish that every one will wonder how it could have been printed so. In yesterday's OREGONIAN the blundering compositor made a local item speak of the unexpended river and harbor appropriation of 1880 and of resuming work in 1886. As written the item read: "There remains unexpended, of the appropriation of 1886, for rivers and harbors of the Northwest, about $400,000, and it is reasonably certain that no future appropriations will be available in time to begin work before the spring of 1889."

THE CASINO.—The complimentary to Harry Brown at the Casino Friday evening promises to be one of the events of the history of the house. The programme offered is such as will catch the popular taste, and the friends of the beneficiary, who is well known in this city through old associations, intend that the benefit shall be a success in every sense of the word. Miss Starr has also a number of friends, and the prospects point to a well filled house. Among the many attractions will be the Sterling brass band in a promenade concert. The sale of reserved seats begins to-day at McKercher & Thompson's.

FAIRLY ABATED NUISANCE.—At both the north and south ends of the Union depot at G and Front streets are several extensive mud puddles, located just where horses and vehicles most do congregate. They do not add to the appearance of the place and are besides a nuisance. A few loads of gravel would fill the depressions and do away with the puddles. As gravel ballast is being carted from a ship not far away and dumped into Couch lake it would seem that if there was anybody who had charge of the depot and surroundings he would secure a few loads of the gravel and fix up his grounds a little But this will probably be done when the rail road bridge is built and not before

ASSAULTED BY TOUGHS.—Monday night, between 11 and 12 o'clock, Fred Stolte, a middle aged German, who says he lives at Eighth and Lincoln streets, was assaulted by a couple of young thugs at Front and Jefferson streets and pretty roughly handled Stolte also claims he was robbed. Officer Henline had previously warned Stolte, who was considerably under the influence of liquor, to go home. Stolte heard but did not heed, and the result was his being "slugged." Henline took Stolte to the police station, and in the police court yesterday he was fined $1 for drunkenness. Stolte was in several weeks ago on the same charge. The police are on the lookout for his assailants

ARRESTED FOR THEFT.—Yesterday morning Ira Keyser, a carpenter, was arrested in a dwelling house on Alder street, between Fifth and Sixth, by policemen Cunningham and Collins, on a charge of the larceny of a plane from Charles Pfaff Keyser is known to have sold quite a quantity of tools of late, and it is supposed came by them all in a suspicious manner. Several years ago Keyser robbed John Klochner, a shoemaker, of $180, and for so doing was sent to the penitentiary. He was released about a year ago In the police court yesterday Keyser plead not guilty, and his case was continued until to-day for examination. Other charges will probably be brought against Keyser.

COMING UP ON THE RISE.—People had about given up all idea of seeing any Columbia river smelt this season, but it appears that they have not deserted us but were only lying off the mouth of the river waiting for the water to become decently warm in order to swarm to their spawning place in the Cowlitz and Sandy. Deep sea fishermen at Astoria report that the cod and groupers caught by them of late have been literally filled with smelt and they predict a large run The late heavy warm rains have put the schools in motion and in a few days it will perhaps be possible to walk across the Sandy on the backs of the smelt.

MINING COMPANY INCORPORATED.—Articles of incorporation of the St. Peters Mining and Milling company were filed yesterday, the incorporators being Capt. Willard Young, F J Carrel and Edward Sanderson Smith Capital stock, $100,000, divided into 5000 shares of $20 each. The company has purchased the three mining claims known as the St. Peters group, situated on Grave creek, Josephine county, Or Development work is now being pushed, and patents will be immediately applied for. The ore is free milling gold quartz and very rich.

CHARGED WITH ADULTERY.—In Justice Tuttle's court yesterday Amelia Gaus and a young man named Henry Harris were arrested on a charge of adultery preferred by Henry Gaus The case will come up for examination to-day Gaus is the person who chased his wife up and down Third street last Saturday in the vicinity of Oak street, acting in an insane manner. The present case is said to have caused Gaus's temporary aberration of mind

SMELT AT LAST.—Late last night McGuire & Co., fish dealers, corner of Third and Morrison streets, received a telegram from down the river stating that several boxes of Columbia river smelt would arrive on the Telephone today for them These will be the first smelt of the season and as the steamer will arrive about 2 30 everybody can have smelt for dinner by leaving orders early to-day.

TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE.—C M. Wiberg yesterday commenced suit in the state circuit court against A. B. Manley, C A. Cole, J. M Guilliame, Rose Guilliame, Clara M. Hinkle, Jane Dooley, Jacob Haas, S E Haas Henry Ackerman and Herman Schneider to recover $750 on a promissory note executed December 16, 1882, and secured by a mortgage on certain lands in Multnomah county.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE AT MOUNT TABOR.—At Mount Tabor the people have resolved to build a new school house, costing $3000. There was a proposition to purchase a new site, at little distance from the present one—two acres of land for $1000—but it was finally decided to build upon the site of the present house, which will be moved around and made to do service as an additional room.

MISS NELLIE BOYD.—Portland, after a short void in first-class dramatic entertainments, will be favored with a visit of the Nellie Boyd company, with a company of unusual merit. The company make a feature of their scenery and properties, which are far more attractive than anything of the kind ever shown in Portland. They carry 3000 pounds of scenery and properties.

EAST PORTLAND AND SALEM.—School district No 21, which embraces the central part of East Portland, contains 2012 school children. This does not include Holladay's addition on the north and Division street on the south. East Portland's school children, therefore, must number nearly 3000, greatly outnumbering those of Salem, whose total is 2091.

BROKE DOWN.—The engine in the building at Second and Yamhill, broke down and this virtually closed up the presses in Himes and West Shore offices yesterday besides smaller work rooms. Repairs will be made immediately.

DIVORCE MATTERS.—John Grow was yesterday granted a divorce from Mahala Grow on the ground of desertion. The suit of Ida M. Girard vs. J C Girard was referred to W S Newbury to take testimony and report findings.

BELLWOOD NOTES.

Interesting Resume of School Matters—Candidates for School Offices—Industrial Notes.

Pursuant to notice the voters of school district No 70 met at the Sellwood school house Monday evening and finished up the business of the two districts They then adjourned to the Willsburg school house and one director, Mr D Wills and clerk, Wm Wills, were elected. The Willsburg district retains the old organization, hence this election. They adjourned to meet Monday March 21 to elect a third director and make the necessary tax levy for running expenses of that school for the current year. Just what the result of the tax levy or how much it will be is hard to tell For years past this part of the district has enjoyed the benefit of an experienced teacher and consequently the pupils have rapidly advanced in their studies It is to be hoped they will continue in the same excellent way

The furniture factory is kept busy filling orders and the proprietor, Mr. G. H Albus is correspondingly happy

Mumps is what's the matter of the little folks now, so far however, of a mild type.

Mr. S Harris will soon have his sawmill in running order, and a large boom of logs will keep him busy the remainder of the year

The newly elected city officers will give the necessary bonds and qualify this evening and enter upon the discharge of their duties holding their first meeting Thursday evening March 10

The clerk's report for the Sellwood school district shows that there has been taught by Prof. D M C Gault 10 months Prof J F Rhodes, 9¼ months Miss C F Morgan 2¼ months It has cost to run the schools, $1810 for the year ending March 4

The new joint district No. 4 will hold an election Friday March 18, at the schoolhouse, commencing at 7 30 P M, for the purpose of electing three directors to serve one two and three years respectively and one clerk to serve one year, also to vote a tax to run the schools and to purchase four more lots and erect a suitable building there on We have not adequate school facilities, and undoubtedly a tax will be voted sufficient to enable the directors to do this work

The aspirants for school directors are, so far as we learn, Messrs C F Chatterton B F Smith, G P Dorris, A. F Miller B Seaman and several outside precincts to hear from. Mr J G Canning ham is only one so far spoken of as clerk

THE CHINOOK

Has come and winter has disappeared. Now comes thoughts of a carriage for Baby. The newness this year consists mostly in the finish When pushing handles took the place of tongues, there was a great stride forward. Since then the steps have been very short and mostly for taste. Running gear as good as can be had. Three kinds of spring—hit every fancy. The finish and form changes, and you can change it still more if you wish. If we cannot please you down stairs, take the elevator to our third floor, and there you can have a carriage made exactly to suit you. We can give you any style of body, any style of spring, any style of wheels, running-gear or top that you desire—build your carriage to your mind, in fact. Can give you a good carriage, wicker body, strong and neat, for $6.50; better ones for $8.50 and $10. From that the price climbs to wherever you say—some first babies take it rather high. As to quality we mean to be best and think we are Every part is looked to with care—so are the prices. Look around a little, then come and be convinced that, at the

A Disastrous Conflagration at Walla Walla, W. T.

TWO MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

The Street Car Strike not yet Ended in San Francisco--A Salem Bridge in Danger--Swindling Exchange.

FIRE AT WALLA WALLA.

Two Men Perish—Loss, $125,000; Insurance, $40,000.

WALLA WALLA, March 8.—A fire on Main street this morning destroyed property to the value of $125,000, along both sides of Main street, between Third and Fourth, and to Rose street on the west. On the east side Day's building was saved. The losers on the east side are, Schwarz building and saloon, stock, etc., $15,000, Jacob Lutcher, groceries, $2000; Debus, tailor, $1000; J. S. Cox, second hand dealer, stock, $13,000; Z. K. Straight, jeweler, stock, $24,000; Shell, barber, fixtures, $1000; Leboucher, liquors, $2000, J. Dooley, building, $2000; J. Kasper, dry goods, $13,000, Schumacher, building, $2000, Kent, butcher, stock, $1000; Simons, notions, $1500, Kleber, saloon and building, $2000.

On the west side—R. Kelling, liquor, $2500, Sanderson & Fossette, restaurant, $1000, J. Bauer, tobacco, etc., $11,000, Bogle barber, $2000; Rose, saloon, $8000, Parris & Hasam, Restaurant, $1000; Chadsey, saloon, $1000; City hotel, Jones, $5000, Schwartz, saloon and building, $9000; Judge Lambert, $500; Joe Schuler, $1000; Harter, saloon, $2000; Prendergast, baker, $2000; Twist & Murray, barber shop, $1500; Novelty restaurant, $1000, Lutcher, tobacco, $1500, Weigel, saloon, $1500, Sam Johnson, building, $2500, City hall, $12,000; J D. Lamen, $500; Geo Dacres, on Rose street, Chinese houses, $6000, Short's livery stable, $500; Guichard building, $600. The insurance on all is about $40,000, while the loss is $125,000.

The remains of two bodies have been found in the ruins. One of the victims is known to be Mr. Bell, a butcher, and the other is unknown.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

WALLA WALLA, March 8.—The fire started at 1 A. M., in J. Lutcher's stable, in the alley back of J. S. Cox's furniture store, south of Main street, between Third and Fourth. A strong breeze was blowing from the southwest, and the flames quickly crossed to Cox's store, on the corner of the block on the south side of Main street, and then spread up and down the street, and crossed to the north side of Main, and burned the whole block, city hall included, bounded by North Third and Fourth, and Main and Rose streets. The burned district on the south side of Main street is between South Fourth street and Dr. Day's brick, on the corner of Main and South Third, occupied by A. Goldman, and between Main and the alley way, on the southeast, and between Third and Fourth. A burned pocket knife and a watch charm tag, bearing the name of J. Sutherland, 106 First street, Portland, Or., was found in the ashes of the burned district, among what looks to be the cremated remains of a human being.

A man by the name of Joseph Bell was burned to death by the fire. Deceased was an American, from some part of the East, about 38 or 39 years of age. He had been in the employ of Harris, the butcher, in the city, and had been here about three weeks. He formerly worked for a butcher named Johnson, of Wallula.

The insurance is as follows. A. W. Calder $800, Walla Walla City $6000, J. Kasper $1600, J. Simon $1750, George Weigel $1000, Louga & Chadsey $2000, Twist & Murray $300, J. S. Cox $2700, R. Lebouchere $6300, C Schumacher $1500, A. Harter $300, J. Bauer $6000, T. F. Prendergast $1000, R. Guichard $1000, Sam Johnson $1000, Z. K. Straight, $7550, A. Goldman $5000, R. Bogle $1000, Dr. Day $2500, J. Louga $300, A. Swartz $1500, Jacob Lutcher $3000, J. Schuler $1000, W. C. Bardsley $500, Maria O'Rourke $2000, J. Betz $1000, F. E. Kleber $2500, D. Kelling $1400, Wm. Jones $1000, Chris Ennis $600, J. P. Kent $500, George Ludwig $1100, John Dooley $600, Alvin Olsen $450, L. J. Shell $700, C. H. Buell $500, Sanderson & Fossatti $400.

THE LATE CARMEN STRIKE.

Trouble Threatened by Street Parades of Strikers.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—When the striking carmen abandoned their bus line on Post street because of the lack of the necessary means to keep it in operation, they stated that they had not given up the fight against the Geary and Sutter street lines. For several days past they have been boasting that they would renew their warfare with redoubled vigor, and they have held several executive meetings in Knights of Red Branch hall. It is known that many of them are in a desperate condition, as they have been threatened with ejectment from their homes for the non payment of rent, and under existing affairs it is feared that some of them may have recourse to violence and attempt to do further injury to the boycotted roads and the men who have supplanted them in their old positions. Men threaten to hold street parades to publicly show the position they have assumed against the trouble lines. The street parades held at the beginning of the strike resulted in the killing of one man and injuring of others with clubs and rocks, and a serious riot was narrowly averted, and if parades are resumed it is feared that more trouble will follow. Chief Crowley has determined to preserve the peace of the city so far as it is within his power, and to-day he made preparations to meet any emergency. A squad of policemen was assigned to duty in the old city hall, and they will be kept in readiness to start for any point if there is any trouble. The special police are armed with riot clubs and extra heavy pistols.

STATE DISPATCHES.

A SALEM BRIDGE WEAKENS.

SALEM, March 9.—The high waters weakened a part of the supports of the bridge near the depot so much that to-day while the engine stationed at this place was passing over the structure gave way. The strength of the rails, however, was great enough to hold the engine in place. Work men began immediately to fix up the bridge, and to-night the engine will be pulled off the bridge and the repairs begun. The Albany express was able to go around the bridge over the switches, and it ran to Albany backwards, when it turned around and continued its journey to Lebanon.

Frank Johnson was to-day arrested and bound over in $200 bonds for burglary of the residence of S. S. Conn, near Salem, a month ago. He secured a suit of clothes and a watch.

ALBANY NOTES—MURDERER ARRESTED.

ALBANY, March 8.—The Oregon Pacific's steamer Three Sisters, Capt Bell, while going down the river through the draw of the bridge this morning, collided with the middle pier, causing trivial damage to both pier and boat. The steamer continued her course down the river for Salem.

Mrs. E. E. Cheadle sold to D. B. Monteith this evening a lot containing sixty-seven feet on First street for $5000.

SCIO MURDERER ARRESTED.

Frank Harris, who shot John Craft at Scio yesterday, has been arrested, and had a preliminary examination at Scio this evening. The result of the trial has not been received here at this hour, but it is considered certain that the prisoner will be held without bonds and brought to this city to-morrow. Craft is in a dangerous condition, and the physicians think it doubtful if he can recover. The ball has not been extracted, owing to the swollen condition of the neck.

STOCK PROSPECTS AT LAGRANDE.

LAGRANDE, March 8.—The weather is fair and snow leaving rapidly. Stock generally in fair condition. Loss thus far very light. Feed is scarce, but with fair weather there will be plenty and at fair figures.

CALIFORNIA.

CARRIAGE COMPETITION ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—According to rumors circulated to-day, a new ferry line is soon to be established between this city and Oakland. For several months there has been great dissatisfaction among expressmen doing business in both cities with rates maintained by existing ferry lines for transporting trucks across the bay. The rates are deemed excessive, and the expressmen have established a new line of their own and intend to greatly extend facilities. The leaders of the enterprise are said to be W. J. Miller, agent of the Petaluma Transportation company, and Whitney Standard of the Oakland Express company. They have chartered the stern-wheel steamer Frank Silva to carry their wagons, besides other freight. They have secured berth at the Jackson street wharf and their steamer makes daily trips from that point to the city wharf in Oakland creek. The projectors will incorporate in a few days and charter another steamer. If business warrants a double end a side-wheel steamer will be built to accommodate passenger traffic and will make hourly trips throughout the day and car passenger fares to 10 cents each way. The present fare is 25 cents for the round trip.

SWINDLING STOCK EXCHANGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Rodman & Co have been for some weeks conducting what they termed an electric stock exchange at 512 California street, and fictitious stocks were bought and sold at fictitious values and fluctuations in stocks were produced by means of an electric machine, which was termed the indicator, and Rodman & Co. took out a percentage on all transactions. The affair was brought to the attention of the police, and detective Lee was detailed to look into it, and he, with detectives John Coffey and Williams, this morning arrested Henry J. Rodman, Charles Alouvcy, George Rose, William P. Gebrge, John Brickwell, Sol Honigberg and Lewis Berger, on warrants sworn out by William T. Wiswall, charging them with conducting a lottery place. Rodman & Co put up $250 bail for each of the parties arrested. The scheme has been a most successful one, and a large amount of business was done at the new stock exchange, as high as $1000 a day being cleared by the conductors.

THE SMALLPOX AT LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—Five new cases of smallpox have been discovered in this city, making in all thirty three cases that have been reported. Three died and eight have recovered. The cases are mostly isolated and no danger is feared of its becoming epidemic.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Arrived—Steamer Walla Walla, Seattle; str Mexico, Victoria, str Columbia, Portland, str San Pedro, Tacoma.

Sailed—Str Oregon, Astoria; ship Canada, Tacoma.

SACRAMENTO CITY ELECTION.

SACRAMENTO, March 8.—Eugene J. Gregory, republican, is elected mayor. The entire republican ticket is elected.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

INCREASING THE DAMAGES.

SEATTLE, March 8.—On February 24 last, Judge Greene decided the case of the Tacoma Mill company against the ship Blue Jacket for damages caused by collision on Puget sound with the Mill company's tug Tacoma, awarding damages to the tug owners in the sum of $7500. A rehearing of the case was granted and it was to-day decided by increasing the damages to the sum of $11,045 75. Attorneys for the Blue Jacket have filed notice of appeal to the territorial supreme court.

MONTANA.

GIANT-POWDER EXPLOSION.

HELENA, March 8.—A Fort Shaw courier brings news to-day of an explosion of giant powder at a camp of Montana Central railroad graders near Great Falls, by which the foreman, George Lawrence, and a blaster, Clay Archer, were instantly killed. Thomas Moore and another employe were seriously injured. The particulars are meager.

ENGLAND.

THE NICARAGUAN CANAL.

LONDON, March 8.—The Nicaraguan representative here has sent a letter to the Times which says: "The president of Nicaragua has ordered me to deny the existence of a treaty with the United States stipulating that that country should control the Nicaraguan canal, recently mentioned in connection with the formation of a company to build the canal. The treaty alluded to is doubtless that of 1884 which lapsed because of the failure of the United States senate to ratify it. My government, in granting any concession, will not omit any means to secure the strictest neutrality for the canal."

GIVING AWAY GOVERNMENT SECRETS.

LONDON, March 8.—A sensation has been caused at Chatham by the suspension of the foreman employed on the government works there. It is alleged that the man has been guilty of revealing important secret naval designs to the United States and Russian governments.

DAMAGES AGAINST LORD LONSDALE.

LONDON, March 8.—Miss Cornelia D. Aucka has been awarded $62,000 damages in her action against Earl Lonsdale, for breach of contract in connection with the engagement performed with the Violet Cameron operatic troupe.

THE STANLEY EXPEDITION.

LONDON, March 8.—The Stanley expedition for the relief of Emin Bey has arrived at Simonstown, Cape of Good Hope. The expedition will take supplies awaiting it at Simonstown and proceed on their journey to-night.

LONDON NOTES.

LONDON, March 8.—It is officially stated that the Marquis of Lothian will succeed Balfour as secretary of state for Scotland.

The Duchess of Richmond is dead.

AN AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA.

LONDON, March 8.—It is rumored that an agreement has been arrived at between Russia and Austria for a settlement of the difference relative to the Balkan states.

THE BULGARIAN REVOLUTION.

RUSSIAN OFFICERS CONCERNED.

BUCHAREST, March 8.—Among the insurgents in Bulgaria was D mirle, a correspondent of the Moscow Viedomost. Twenty Russian officers who were implicated in the revolt and who fled after the defeat of the insurgents have arrived in Roumania. Major Oleganoff, who commanded the rebel troops at Rustchuk and who was seriously wounded in the fight with the loyalists, was an enthusiastic supporter of the Prince Alexander and was commander at Widdin during the Servia-Bulgaria war.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

VIENNA, March 8.—The Denblatt advises the Bulgarian regents to retire and allow the country to secure peaceful arrangement with Russia. Other semi-official papers give similar advice. It is believed they are inspired by the government to advocate such a course.

It is reported that Emperor Francis Joseph in private conversation denied that Russia had formally withdrawn from the triple alliance.

TO SUMMON THE SOBRANJE.

SOFIA, March 8.—The government is about to summon the great sobranje and the national party will demand of the sobranje that greater power be given to the regents.

It is reported that the Roumanian authorities have arrested at Astrov two superior officers of Russian nationality concerned in the recent uprisings in Bulgaria.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

DISASTROUS BANK FAILURE.

ST. JOHNS, March 8.—There is great excitement in financial and commercial circles over the suspension of the Maritime bank, which closed its doors to-day. No particulars can be obtained at present. Everybody seems to be taken by surprise.

RUSSIA.

SECRET INSTRUCTIONS.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 8.—The government has sent secret instructions to all government railway inspectors on the subject of mobilization and transportation of troops.

ITALY.

A TREATY OF ALLIANCE.

ROME, March 8.—It is believed that a treaty of alliance between Austria, Germany and Italy was signed March 4.

FRANCE.

DE LESSEPS'S MOVEMENTS.

PARIS, March 8.—De Lesseps has started for Berlin.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT.

SINGAPORE, March 8.—James Gordon Bennett's steam yacht has arrived here.

ALFALFA.

Its Many Good Qualities—A Profitable Fodder for Sheep—Alfalfa for Alkali Lands.

The many good qualities of alfalfa are rapidly becoming known in California and Nevada, although it is scarce known in this section. The latest discovery being that by feeding it to sheep a much better showing is made at lambing, and that the wool crop also shows a gratifying increase—about 25 per cent. The lambs are also robust and early ready for the market. The simple fact is, says an authority on the subject, that with 50 or 100 acres in alfalfa a larger number of sheep can be kept in better condition than would be possible upon 5000 acres of average natural pasture lands the year around.

Prof. Hilgard, of the university of Berkeley, Cal., has prepared a report upon "Alkali Lands—Irrigation and Drainage in their Mutual Relations," in which he says:

"It is the evaporation from the surface after light rains and the application of water in irrigation that causes the rise of alkali from beneath, and obviously the first thing to be done is to prevent so far as possible this excessive evaporation. To effect this purpose Professor Hilgard recommends the cultivation of certain crops, such as alfalfa, which not only shades the ground, but in addition causes almost the entire evaporation water to pass up through its deep roots to the leaves, and thus not reaching the surface at all. Such accumulation of alkali in and around the roots as can occur under such circumstances is too much diluted to hurt the plants. The fact that alfalfa succeeds perfectly on ground too much charged with alkali to grow grain is notorious; only care must be taken to prevent injury to the root crowns while the plants do not yet cover the surface by timely irrigation."

Alfalfa may be sown broadcast and the plant will stool out and cover the ground so thoroughly that a weed is never seen after the first year of cultivation. There is nothing grown which can compete with alfalfa as food for cows, pigs, horses, cattle or sheep. Alfalfa-fed cows give an abundance of rich milk, and careful experiments, as recently published in the Country Gentleman, show that a ration composed almost wholly of this hay produced better milk and butter results than anything else that was tried. Beef cattle fattened on alfalfa are the equal of anything and the superior of most that are seen in the markets. Sheep cannot be given better food, and for horses there is nothing better than equal portions of alfalfa and barley or wheat hay. Hogs are raised and brought to the fattening time on alfalfa as they could be on no other single food.

There is no cultivated plant in the world which will thrive under abuse as will alfalfa. One may allow horses, cattle, sheep and hogs to trample it down or root it up, until hardly a vestige is left. You take the stock off and in a week's time the ground will be covered with a carpet of green, and nine times out of ten it will grow all the more thriftily for the apparent rough treatment to which it has been subjected. The field may be plowed and harrowed, and still the alfalfa will come up smiling, seeming to rejoice in its adversity.

The simple fact is that there is not a forage plant in the world which is easier of cultivation, will yield larger crops, is better food for all kinds of stock, and is less susceptible to adverse influences than alfalfa, and thousands of farmers will attest the truth of this statement.

The day is rapidly approaching when the stock business, whether the raising of horses, cattle or sheep, must be conducted upon an entirely different basis from that which has obtained for so many years. The fact that alfalfa fed beef and mutton is superior to all other has long been recognized, and there can be no question that before many years have passed the old method of pasturing stock on the public domain, where for six months they revel in luxuriant feed, and for six months more derive a scant subsistence by browsing on brush, will have become a thing of the past, and the alfalfa field will attain that prominence to which it is justly entitled, and which it is rapidly reaching.

The Secret of Life.

SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA, OR BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP, is the remedy for the cure of Scrofulous Taint, Rheumatism, White Swelling, Gout, Goitre, Consumption, Bronchitis, Nervous Debility, Malaria, and all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood. Certificates can be presented from many leading Physicians, Ministers, and heads of families throughout the land endorsing SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP in the highest terms. We are constantly in receipt of certificates of cures from the most reliable sources, and we recommend it as the best remedy for above diseases.

There was shipped to-day via Canadian Pacific 1273 cases Puget sound salmon, packed by Geo. T. Myers. A total of 1650 cases were disposed of for the shipment, the balance to go soon.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 204 ctls wheat, 402 bbls flour, 817 sks potatoes, 255 lbs hides, 419 bxs fruit, 21 bxs dried do, 8850 lbs hops, 150 sheep, 41 cs eggs, 5 cs butter. Also from the eastern section 11 234 ctls wheat, 252 bbls flour.

FREIGHTS—Br bark Glenmore has been taken up by the Portland Mills for flour loading. Br bark Loch Ranza, 1075 tons, has been taken up for grain loading by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. Rates are understood to be about as noted for last takings.

WHEAT—Foreign markets improving. California prompt shipment is now quoted 38s 6d, 9d above nearly due and within 1s 6d of the high figure cable the first day of the year. Heavy dealing in options is still reported from San Francisco, buyer season selling up to $1 70 and buyer year to $1 74½. On January 1 and 3 last the best figures for these two options were $1 70@1 74½, and they have not since been touched until to-day. San Francisco options now are what they were January 1, with cargoes 1s 6d higher than now. Our market appears very slow to move and if there has been any business very lately it is not spoken of. With San Francisco quoting spot up to $1 60 the holder here will want a neat little advance on prices quoted less than a week ago. Chicago closes higher and New York lower.

OATS—None coming by regular transportation routes and stocks are necessarily being lowered. The pressure seems not heavy enough to bring increased inquiry and the market rules quiet.

CHICKENS—Supplies not heavy and appear to be closely sold up.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The rumors affecting Baltimore & Ohio, Western Union, Jersey Central and Richmond, West Point & Reading were amplified to-day, taking several different shapes, and occupied the attention of the street to the exclusion of most everything else. The remainder of the market was dull and barely steady, with fluctuations for the most part confined within a very narrow range, but with a strong undertone throughout the day, with some evidences of a broadening tendency. The opening was generally firm to strong, the first prices showing advances over last evening's final figures of ⅛ to ⅜ per cent. Western Union and Illinois Central became the features immediately, both advancing about 1 per cent., while the remainder were barely firm. The market became dull after the first hour and with almost no movement in prices, and continued until about 1 P. M. Coalers then became active and strong and continued to advance until it fell into the last hour, when the general market responding feebly, extensive realizations then sagged the list off, and though the market closed on a rally it was rather heavy.

Government bonds dull and firm.

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

BLACK WOLF,

Or Black Leprosy, is a disease which is considered incurable, but it has yielded to the curative properties of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC—now known all over the world as S. S. S. Mrs Bailey, of West Somerville, Mass., near Boston, was attacked several years ago with this hideous black eruption, and was treated by the best medical talent, who could only say that the disease was a species of and consequently incurable. It is impossible to describe her sufferings. Her body from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet was a mass of decay, masses of flesh rotting off and leaving great cavities. Her fingers festered and three or four nails dropped off at one time. Her limbs contracted by the fearful ulceration, and for several years she did not leave her bed. Her weight was reduced from 125 to 60 lbs. Perhaps some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of Cosmoline or ointment were used per week in dressing her sores. Finally the physicians acknowledged their defeat by this Black Wolf, and commended the sufferer to her all-wise Creator.

Her husband hearing wonderful reports of the use of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC (S. S. S.), prevailed on her to try it as a last resort. She began its use under protest, but soon found that her system was being relieved of the poison, as the sores assumed a red and healthy color, as though the blood was becoming pure and active. Mrs Bailey continued the S. S. S. until last February; every sore was healed; she discarded chair and crutches, and was for the first time in twelve years a well woman. Her husband, Mr. C. A. Bailey, is in business at 17½ Blackstone Street, Boston, and will take pleasure in giving the details of this wonderful cure. Send to us for Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free.

FITS.
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again, I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.
